Administrative Positions

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY

Provost Emeritus (July 2018-Present)

Executive Director, Center for University Excellence (CUE) (July 2019-Present)

Executive Director of a research center charged by the AU Board of Trustees and President to engage in the great challenges facing higher education institutions. CUE will focus its research efforts on a select range of topics to be studied over time and with some depth. CUE, by design, engages a multi-disciplinary team that includes active research scholars as well as current and former administrators who have deep knowledge of the administration and governance of higher education. CUE will examine three overarching areas of inquiry. They include:

- Extremism, Polarization, and Conflict in Higher Education in the U.S. and Globally
- Undergraduate Student Progress, Academic Success, and Inclusive Diversity
- Strengthening the Academic Infrastructure and the Use of Technology

Provost, (2008-June 2018)

Chief academic officer responsible for having shaped, lead, and implemented American University's distinctive mission. Balanced the ideal of a college-centered research university by combining the supports of a liberal arts college with the intensity of a research university. As provost, oversaw—including budget authority—the university's seven nationally ranked schools and colleges, as well as extended education, providing a unique opportunity for the institution's 12,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Provided overall leadership for both the content and quality of academic programs and services to include undergraduate and graduate education with significant enhancement of faculty scholarship and research; University Library; Registrar; enrollment and financial aid; institutional research and assessment; faculty affairs; research and grants; career center; and study abroad. Led intensive change, resulting in institutional transformation and development of an interdisciplinary, entrepreneurial, and future-focused institutional culture. Established and expanded upon academic programs to enhance high impact learning (e.g., Community-based Research Scholars, Frederick Douglass Distinguished Scholars, living-learning communities, new AU core curriculum, three-year bachelor's degree programs) as well as high impact research. Improved metrics on student diversity, student quality, faculty research productivity, faculty hiring, and academic program quality and innovation. Honored as the namesake of the new undergraduate research award to represent "the inspiration and encouragement for high AU academic achievement." Obtained the distinction of being named provost emeritus by the Board of Trustees. Received a citation from the 2018 AU Board of Trustees. (To see the summary of the citation, visit: <https://www.american.edu/provost/previous-provosts.cfm>.)

Major accomplishments and outcomes include:

- Successful completion of AU's decennial 2014 Middle State Commission accreditation with recognition for university transformation as a result of leadership
- Oversaw the enhancement to the university's research infrastructure and increases in doctoral programs and funded research, contributing to AU's reclassification as R2: Doctoral Universities – Higher Research Activity by the Carnegie Classification of institutions
- Increased student diversity while simultaneously increasing undergraduate applications, GPA, SAT, academic standards, and institutional selectivity
- Contemporized academic policies and practices, benchmarking them to best practices, raising standards and expectations, and implementing a framework for academic excellence
- Developed strategic planning initiatives that give faculty a key role in determining AU's academic direction (e.g., AU 2030, Faculty/Staff Retreat, collaborative research initiatives, faculty development of research centers)
- Expanded the university faculty, hiring over half of the full-time faculty, and increasing the racial and ethnic diversity of the faculty body
- Collaborated with internal and external constituents to obtain support from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to build upon the existing advising system and academic support services
- Led the development of RiSE – the university's Reinventing the Student Experience initiative
- Rewrote, in collaboration with the Faculty Senate, the entire Faculty Manual, which received an 82% campus-wide faculty vote of approval (cited by The Chronicle of Education, June 17, 2011, p. A15)
- Facilitated, in collaboration with the deans, a culture of transparency in the tenure and promotion process through the development of new written guidelines for tenure and promotion within each department/school
- Developed, in collaboration with the Faculty Senate, a new set of Undergraduate Academic Regulations and Graduate Academic Regulations

- Increased graduation rates from 75.5% to 81.2%
- Increased the percentage of multicultural first-year students in the University Honors Program from 13% to 33%
- Increased Pell-eligible freshmen enrollment from 8% of the class to 19% of the class (2017-2018)
- Reallocated financial aid resources to meet the full demonstrated need of low-income students
- Established the Frederick Douglass Distinguished Scholars Program for students serving as champions for solutions to the world's most pressing economic, environmental, and social problems
- Established intensive three-year baccalaureate programs with a fourth-year master's degree option in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of International Service, and the School of Public Affairs
- Revised the General Education Program to a new core curriculum
- Established a new problem-based Honors Program to achieve greater selectivity in student scholars
- Established AU's program presence in the online education market with selective online education providers
- Hired the deans of all AU academic units, a University Librarian, and six vice provosts
- Created in cooperation with the Faculty Senate, a career pathway with promotion milestones for contractual faculty
- Established the School of Professional and Extended Studies, American University's seventh degree-granting school
- Established 1 university-wide research center and 10 new school/college research centers and institutes
- Established over 25 new bachelor's degrees, more than 25 new master's degrees – including the university's first online master's degree, three LLM degrees, and 3 new Ph.D. degree programs
- Increased research and development expenditures from $15,742 million to $63,628 million
- Collaborated with campus leadership on the development of capital construction projects of new and renovated buildings for the School of International Service, School of Communication, the Washington College of Law campus, and the Myers Technology and Innovation Building, and the new Life Sciences Building (in progress)

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND, BALTIMORE COUNTY

Vice President for Research and Dean of the Graduate School (2005-2008)

Dean of the Graduate School and Vice Provost for Research & Planning (2002-June 2005)

Dean of the Graduate School and Vice Provost for Research (1996-2002)

Managed a growing research and graduate enterprise in a mid-sized research university. The position carried broad, university-wide budget, policy development, planning, and management responsibilities. Managed five major campus-wide research centers. Responsible for federal relations, technology transfer, sponsored programs, compliance with state and federal scientific regulations, and collaborative research partnerships with federal laboratories, government agencies, universities, and the private sector. Overall responsibility for setting the vision and direction for graduate education and research (recruitment, new initiatives, program and center reviews, academic policy, progressions, graduation) in a setting with a strong tradition of shared governance.

Major accomplishments and outcomes include:

- Strategic investment in research and graduate education that resulted in UMBC being ranked #3 in Geoscience publications/citations (ScienceWatch, 2007).
- UMBC was identified as evidencing largest change (345%) in Federal R&D expenditure from 1993-2002 among all research universities in America (source: The Center, 2004).
- Assisted in the development of 3 major Cooperative Agreements with NASA-Goddard; the Goddard Earth Science and Technology Center (GEST) agreement is for up to $150M over 10 years.
- Liaison to Congressional offices for UMBC's priority legislative initiatives.
- Helped establish funding for six new university-wide interdisciplinary research centers generating over $22M per year.
- UMBC ranked 6th for number of inventions disclosed per $1M in spending on research, and 9th for patent applications filed per $1M in spending on research. (Source: American Association of University Technology Managers, 2002).
- Increased graduate enrollment by 82% (1999-2007).
- Increased Ph.D. production by 93% (2000-2007).
- Underrepresented minority Ph.D. degrees awarded in science, technology, and engineering increased from 2% in 2000 to 12% in 2007.
- UMBC received the CGS/Peterson's Award for "promoting an inclusive graduate community" in 2002.
- Established a state-of-the-art revenue-generating online master's degree program in Information Systems, numerous master's and professional master's programs, certificate programs, and 5 new Ph.D. programs.
- Established a university-wide Research Council.
- Created a collaborative working group with Graduate Program Directors campus-wide and an effective combined Graduate Council with faculty from UMB and UMBC.
- Shaped academic policy in the areas of intellectual property, scientific misconduct, and conflict of interest.
- Assisted in crafting the academic strategic planning agenda for the campus.

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS BOSTON

Director, Gerontology Institute (1984-1996)

Founding director and administrator of the Gerontology Institute, a research and policy institute on aging and social policy.

Primary administrative accomplishments included:

- Secured the first and only state legislatively-funded university chair position at any Massachusetts public university.
- Attracted over $1M in support for the Gerontology Institute including a line item in the state budget.
